

Abstract of the Disclosure

An exercise apparatus includes left and right foot supporting members having respective first ends rotatably connected to respective left and right cranks, and respective second ends supported by respective left and right rollers. The rollers may be rotatably mounted on the frame or respective left and right rocker links and/or selectively movable in a radial direction.

Patented Feb. 11, 1964